

LUDECKE

Since 1930. The perfect connection.

It's that simple: The new WaterProfi by LUDECKE[®] Quick Connect Couplings

Whether for private or commercial gardening and landscaping as well as for water supply in industry, handcraft and agriculture: The WaterProfi by LUDECKE[®] quick connect couplings are the perfect product for water applications.

The couplings are entirely made of nickel-plated brass. This makes them more robust and wear-resistant compared to similar plastic couplings. To guarantee enhanced usability, the quick connect couplings have been thoroughly optimised. Thus, the new WPN series replaces the products of the previous WS series and offers numerous advantages: For example, the new compact version is now very light in weight. The improved sleeve design and the new ball shut-off allow for a much better one-hand operation and greatly facilitates your job. The smooth surfaces avoid dirt from collecting and are easy to clean. The series WPN achieves high flow rates and is especially used in areas which require a quick and flexible way of working.

Of course, the quick connect couplings are compatible with standard plug profiles and can be combined with WaterProfi by LUDECKE[®] spray nozzle and wand nozzle.
